Emerging Artist Public Art Projects

Update: Staff plans to launch two emerging artist public art projects in 2026. These will follow the model of the Crossroads Public Art Project recently completed – the projects should be a career catalyst for artists with little to no experience in public art. Selected artists will be paired with established public artist mentors. The projects will be located at Lake Hills Community Park and in Lakemont.

Factoria Public Art

Update: Staff plans to select an artist mid-2026 to design, fabricate and install a major artwork on Factoria Boulevard, just south of Interstate 90. The project site is owned by Washington State Department of Transportation. There will be a slightly modified concept design approval process as WSDOT will need to approve the concept independently of the Arts Commission's recommendation to approve the artwork's concept design.
