

10 Underrated Cities for Art Lovers

Discover creative, offbeat and inspiring art scenes across the country.

Whether you want to browse contemporary exhibitions or pop into cutting-edge galleries, there's a vibrant arts city for you.

By Sheryl Nance-Nash

Aug. 30, 2016, at 11:20 a.m.

Bellevue, Washington

While you may expect to find top-notch art in Seattle, Bellevue offers an is flourishing arts scene in its own right, with a world-class museum, one of the oldest art fairs in the country and nearly 130 public art displays scattered throughout the city. The Bellevue Arts Museum is a leading destination in the Pacific Northwest and features world-renowned contemporary art and the BAM ARTSfair, a three-day event that showcases handmade crafts and art from more than 300 artists. What's more, Bellwether Exhibition and Art Walk features installations from local and international artists across downtown.