BACKGROUND/ANALYSIS

On October 25, 2019 following a rain event, surface water from Lake WA Blvd overflowed the street curb and Whalers Cove condominiums rock wall, flowing through the parking lot and into the main floor of the tenant's house through the garage at 9927 Lake Washington Blvd, Bellevue. It is alleged that the flooding occurred because of catch basin and curb inlet clogging.

The tenant's home sustained extensive damage to the garage, office, foyer, master bedroom, lower hall, and lower bathroom, which required repairs. Further, there was needed repair/restoration of a portion of the rock wall that was affected by the flooding.
