- (a) Hate Has No Home Here Campaign Update

City Manager Brad Miyake said the Hate Has No Home Here campaign launched on April 5 following the Council's March 15 proclamation condemning discrimination, hate and violence against the Asian Pacific Islander (API) community.

Elaine Acacio, Diversity and Inclusion Program Administrator, said the City has received support for the Hate Has No Home Here campaign from residents, City staff, community organizations, businesses, and local governments. While the campaign was triggered by the recent hate and violence against the Asian community, the City is committed to protecting everyone against discrimination and hate. She said the campaign is a joint community response that provides tools and opportunities for public involvement. She noted collaborative awareness campaigns with the Bellevue Downtown Association (BDA), Bellevue Chamber of Commerce, King County Library System, and Bellevue School District. She said more than 1,000 yard signs have been distributed throughout the community.

In honor of May as Pacific Islander Heritage Month, the City aired the community and crowd-sourced video of students and residents discussing a vision of inclusion and racial healing. Ms. Acacio said the video is available on the City's web site, and the public is invited to submit additional submissions to the video. She said the City recently hosted a Cultural Conversations forum to discuss the power of voice in the Asian community. Staff is working with the school district to develop an educational component to the Hate Has No Home Here campaign, and businesses have expressed an interest in training and dialogue around racism and coalition building. In June, the City will provide a presentation to the Sound Cities Association (SCA) regarding the project.

9. Public Hearing

- (a) Public Hearing and action on Ordinance No. 6576 authorizing execution of the Development Agreement, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 36.70B RCW, to enable the mixed-use Crossroads Multifamily Project in Planning District E of the Crossroads Subarea; and establishing an effective date.

City Manager Miyake introduced the public hearing and discussion regarding the proposed development agreement for the Crossroads mixed-use, multifamily project in Planning District E of the Crossroads Subarea.

Mike Brennan, Director of the Development Services Department (DSD), described the development agreement related to the Crossroads multifamily project, which was initially introduced to the Council in January. He recalled that the Council asked staff to work with the developer to explore the potential for adding affordable housing to the project. He said the development agreement reflects the incorporation of affordable housing units.

Trisna Tanus, Consulting Attorney, said that the Crossroads multifamily project is a six-story, mixed-use building with 224 residential units, ground-level retail space, and a parking garage. The City is currently processing the application for design review for the project. The project requires a development agreement under the Land Use Code based on its location in the Crossroads area. Ms. Tanus said the development agreement must include the public benefits of the project, as specified in the Comprehensive Plan. The public benefits of the Crossroads multifamily project include connections to Crossroads Park and Community Center, pedestrian improvements, open space, and a mid-block connector/urban trail.

Ms. Tanus said that, consistent with the Council's direction, the project will also include affordable housing units as an enhanced public benefit. A minimum of 20 percent of all units must be available for households earning 80 percent area median income (AMI) or below. Any unit that is 300 square feet or less would charge rent based on 45 percent AMI. Ms. Tanus said the units will remain affordable for the maximum duration that the multifamily tax exemption (MFTE) program is available to the project. She noted that, in exchange for providing the affordable units, the City will include the project site in the MFTE program.

→ Deputy Mayor Nieuwenhuis moved to open the public hearing, and Councilmember Lee seconded the motion.

→ The motion carried by a vote of 7-0.

City Clerk Charmaine Arredondo noted that two written comments were received for this public hearing and copies have been provided in the Council's desk packet.

- (b) Public Hearing and action on Ordinance No. 6577 designating the Crossroads Multifamily Project Site, a 7.5 acre area in Planning District E of the Crossroads Subarea, as a residential targeted area for eligibility in the City's Multifamily Housing Property Tax Exemption Program; providing for severability; and establishing an effective date.

City Manager Miyake introduced the public hearing and discussion regarding the proposed designation of the Crossroads Multifamily Project as a residential targeted area for eligibility in the City's Multifamily Housing Property Tax Exemption Program (MFTE Program).

Mr. Brennan requested Council approval of the proposed MFTE program extension to the Crossroads Multifamily Project site.

Matt McFarland, Assistant City Attorney, said that including the Crossroads project site in the City's MFTE program is a provision of the development agreement in exchange for the development of a number of affordable housing units. He said the project site meets the criteria provided in BCC 4.52.030 for a residential targeted area (RTA) in the MFTE program. He said the City is required to hold a public hearing before taking action on the ordinance. The project covers a 7.5-acre site.

Mr. McFarland complimented the applicant for their work with City staff and the City Council. He highlighted the public process to date and requested Council approval of the ordinance.

He thanked staff for their work related to the project and said he looks forward to collaborations with the parks department.

10. Study Session Items

(a) Arts and Culture Program Biannual Update

Mayor Robinson said she just learned that Scott MacDonald, Arts Community Manager, is leaving the City. She noted his background in design and environmental studies. She thanked him for his nine years of service to Bellevue and for his contributions related to public art and Eastgate and Factoria development.

City Manager Miyake introduced staff's update regarding the Arts and Culture Program, which is a component of the Cultural and Economic Development Office.

Jesse Canedo, Assistant Director, Community Development, said the staff report is an update regarding ongoing operations and programming.

Mr. MacDonald said the Arts and Culture Program includes a number of public functions including the arts grant program, public art projects, cultural planning for major City initiatives (e.g., Grand Connection, Cultural Compass Plan), and efforts to establish the arts district. He noted that the pandemic has had a significant negative impact on arts organizations. However, it has also pulled the community together to support the resiliency of the arts.

Mr. MacDonald said the City is exploring ways to improve access to and equity in programs and services for underserved communities. He said that Bellevue is the Eastside's destination for arts and culture. He noted that the shift to online performances during the pandemic resulted in much larger audiences than the previous live events.

Mr. MacDonald said the Economic Development Plan includes information regarding the creative economy and tourism. One objective of the creative economy is to establish an arts district in the BelRed corridor. He said the City's role would be to increase the visibility of art in the community, capacity building work, and arts-oriented redevelopment. He noted the Arts and Culture Program's focus on expanding cultural tourism in Bellevue, supporting the arts grant program, and implementing the public art program. He highlighted the positive economic impact related to arts and culture events, exhibits, and performances.

Mr. MacDonald said that arts grants will be critical in helping arts organizations recover from the economic impacts of the pandemic. He said the City will focus on connecting artists of color with upcoming opportunities and including a more diverse group of individuals on the art selection panels. Mr. MacDonald presented artistic renderings of public art under development for Bellevue and commented on the growing demand for arts and culture options.

Mr. Canedo said that ongoing redevelopment in Bellevue and inflation create risks for the future of arts organizations in this community. He noted a 20 percent increase in the number of grant applications since 2017 and said that increased competition for grants decreases the average award. Mr. Canedo said the Downtown Park art installation is anticipated to be completed later this year. He noted that there have been significant cost increases in certain materials used for artwork. He said that smaller art projects include murals and utility box wraps. He noted the City's partnerships with 4 Culture, KidsQuest Children's Museum, PACE, Bellevue Downtown Association (BDA), Tasveet, EastHUB, Bellevue Arts Museum, and Tabor.

Mr. MacDonald said that upcoming work items include the 130th Avenue fabrication contract, 121st Avenue fabrication contract, Bellwether 2021 festival, public-private partnerships, and BelRed Arts District activation.

Mayor Robinson thanked staff for the presentation.

Councilmember Stokes said he has had the honor of serving as the Council liaison to the Arts Commission for some time now. He expressed support for efforts to develop the BelRed Arts District. He noted the Council's longtime support for affordable housing as well as affordable spaces for arts organizations and performances. Mr. Stokes thanked Mr. MacDonald for his work on behalf of the City.

Councilmember Barksdale thanked Mr. MacDonald for his contributions to the community. Mr. Barksdale noted his deep appreciation for the arts and its role in cultural expression and building community. Referring to the KidsQuest Children's Museum, Mr. Barksdale wondered whether there is a way to bring play to Bellevue. As liaison to the Special Events Committee, he asked whether there is anything the committee can do to support arts and culture projects.

Mr. MacDonald said they are always looking for ways to play. He recalled the marching band from City Hall onto downtown streets in recent years. He noted that planning is underway for outdoor art experiences this year. He said staff is always looking for ways to engage the community.

Councilmember Zahn thanked Mr. MacDonald for his work for the City. Ms. Zahn expressed an interest in supporting arts spaces and affordable housing for artists. She encouraged pop up music throughout the community. She said that members of the Bellevue Symphony Orchestra played throughout the Bellevue Botanical Garden during the past year. Ms. Zahn expressed support for engaging the community and reaching out to local artists.

Mr. MacDonald concurred with Ms. Zahn's comments regarding pop up performances. He said the City recently launched the Eastside Artist Roster, which is open to all artists on the Eastside. He said the utility box art wraps in the BelRed corridor are the first example of selecting artists from the roster. Responding to Councilmember Zahn, Mr. MacDonald said that activation of the BelRed Arts District encompasses a number of things including public art and art elements incorporated into development and redevelopment projects.

Deputy Mayor Nieuwenhuis said we need to bring back the marching band. Responding to Mr. Nieuwenhuis, Mr. MacDonald said staff recently completed the BelRed Arts District Engagement Report, which involved surveying more than 200 businesses, stakeholders, and community members to gather feedback regarding the district. He said that will lay the groundwork for the next step of developing an action plan. Mr. MacDonald said a separate project is the arts market survey, which is largely focused on marketing outreach to the community. He said the best way to stay connected to the Arts and Culture Program is to subscribe on the City's web site and to follow social media. He said they post a number of funding resources from many other sources, not just those from the City.

In further response to Deputy Mayor Nieuwenhuis, Mr. MacDonald said there will be a lot of art in the 2021 Bellwether exhibit and festival. A digital art gallery has been added for this year, and some artworks will have a play component. Mr. MacDonald said the City is talking with EastHUB about sponsoring a multi-day music festival.

Councilmember Lee acknowledged the challenges associated with funding arts and culture initiatives and programs. He expressed support for moving forward with BelRed Arts District activation and other amenities that will appeal to new residents of the BelRed area. He said there are so many cultural and ethnic groups in Bellevue and the region. He noted that arts and culture programming can bring people together.

Mayor Robinson said she appreciates that the Arts and Culture Program falls under the Economic Development Plan. She likes the 130th Avenue and 121st Avenue art streetscapes in the BelRed corridor.

Ms. Robinson encouraged the development of more partnerships to achieve more funding for the arts. She said the pandemic emphasized the importance of the arts in our quality of life and wellbeing.
